BigCommerce is a SaaS (software as a service, subscription model) company that offers solutions to companies to build their online store. This includes building a website, hosting a website, connecting a payment gateway to pay for orders, inventory of goods, marketing tools including SEO, shipping of goods, and everything else required for e-commerce.

Such platforms are not new, but their development has gone a certain way. At first, these were more complex platforms that required technical skills, raising their server, maintaining it, and so on. But on the other hand, they gave almost limitless possibilities for organizing the store, its customization and scalability.

Competitive advantages of BigCommerce

BigCommerce developers support the growth of all businesses, from small and medium businesses to large enterprises. Originally designed for the needs of small and medium businesses, the BigCommerce platform today supports some of the largest brands in the world. Starting with a comprehensive yet easy-to-use platform, a business can grow to hundreds of millions of sales without facing limitations in BigCommerce development services.

Open SaaS

Because every business is unique and most large companies have specific requirements that are difficult to provide a turnkey solution, BigCommerce's product strategy emphasizes what the company calls "open SaaS". "Open SaaS" is the disclosure of the functionality of the SaaS platform through APIs and software development kits. APIs allow customers to access a wide range of third-party applications and integrate with legacy systems. Thus, open SaaS as a strategy competes with the flexibility of legacy open-source software.

Cross-channel commerce

BigCommerce developers provide free connections to two of the leading US marketplaces: Amazon and eBay, and the company's technology partners provide integrations with dozens of other leading markets around the world. BigCommerce is one of two platforms that natively allows social selling on Facebook and Instagram Checkout. The company has integrations and business partnerships with a wide range of leading POS software vendors including Square, Clover (a Fiserv Company) and Vend.

Variety of themes and BigCommerce website design

For branded client sites, the Stencil design framework offers over 100 beautiful, pre-built, responsive theme options, as well as the ability to custom BigCommerce website design in a local development environment. The interactive page builder lets you drag and drop control of layouts, designs, widgets, and content blocks on pages that can contain anything from simple image rotations to powerful merchandising features.

The lower total cost of ownership

BigCommerce believes that the total cost of ownership of the company's platform is substantially less than that of legacy software. Customers can take advantage of pre-negotiated rates from strategic payment partners, whose published rates are lower than Shopify's for most plan types.

Performance and safety

BigCommerce developers have developed a platform to maximize uptime, minimize response time, and provide a secure environment. On all sites, stores, on average, achieved 99.98% uptime in 2019, and as of June 1, 2020, the average uptime in 2020 was 99.99%. Since 2014, BigCommerce has had zero site downtime during its five peak holiday shopping days.

Download speed

According to Google PageSpeed Insights, BigCommerce is responding faster than top eCommerce sites. Faster response times and page load times benefit customers by improving the buyer's experience and organic search engine rankings. Unlike managed software, security is built into the BigCommerce platform and service. The company offers its payment security at PCI-DSS Level 1, and its security protocols have received ISO 27001 certification - the "gold standard" in security assessments.
